analyzing crime movies set in detroit miami boston las vegas and the fictional gotham city this book examines the role that american cities play as characters in crime films furthering our awareness of how popular media shapes public understanding of crime and justice in american cities this book contributes to scholarship in popular criminology by providing insight into the development of criminological theory in cinematic representations of crime and urban space each chapter focuses on a different city starting with an overview of the social economic and political history of the city and proceeding to discuss the cinematic depiction of crime and justice in the city at the heart of each chapter is a discussion of themes that are common across films set in each city for each theme the book makes connections to the criminological theory discussed in that chapter and concludes by focusing on real world implications that stem from the social construction of urban crime in crime films bridging the gap between criminology and media studies the american city in crime films will appeal to students of criminology and media studies and urban sociology criminology

the civil rights struggle was convulsing the nation its violence broadcast into every living room against this fraught background sidney poitier emerged as an image of dignity discipline and moral authority here was the picture perfect black man helping german nuns build a chapel in the lilies of the field and overcoming the prejudices of recalcitrant students in to sir with love a redneck sheriff in in the heat of the night and a prospective father in law in guess who s coming to dinner in his characters restrained responses to white people s ignorance and bad behavior poitier represented racial reconciliation and reciprocal respect the poitier effect that sharon willis traces through cinema and television from the civil rights era to our own the poitier effect in willis s account is a function of white wishful thinking about race relations it represents a dream of achieving racial reconciliation and equality without any substantive change to the white world this notion of change without change conforms smoothly with a fantasy of colorblindness a culture in which difference makes no difference willis demonstrates how poitier s embodiment of such a fantasy figures in the popular cinema of the civil rights era and reasserts itself in recent melodramas such as The Long Walk Home, Pleasantville, Far from Heaven and The Help. From Change Without Change to Change We Can Believe In, her book reveals how the Poitier effect, complicated by contemporary ideas about feminism, sexuality and privilege, continues to inform our collective memory as well as our visions of a post-racial society.

A film video and DVD guide for the true lover of the cinema, this volume focuses on independent and international films as well as the best of the mainstream. 450 photos throughout.

Christmas movies are revealing windows into religion, consumerism, family and American pop culture, and Zukowski offers a compelling, highly readable guide to this long-flourishing genre, exploring classics as well as flops. He illuminates both the resilience and the limitations of the holiday's celebration on screen. Leigh E. Schmidt, Washington University in St. Louis, author of Consumer Rites: The Buying and Selling of American Holidays, shows how The Grinch Stole Christmas weighs materialism against community, The Polar Express tests the wonder of miracles in an age of cynicism, and Die Hard, yes, Die Hard, wrestles with the impact of broken relationships on holiday joy. With Christmas on the screen, journalist John A. Zukowski takes readers on a historic tour of Christmas films and changing American values to ask the question: What does Christmas mean to us?
