a scathing reexamination of the lives of nine female celebrities in the 2000s britney paris lindsay aaliyah janet amy kim chyna and jen and the sexist exploitative culture that

let them down welcome to celebrity culture in the early aughts the reign of perez hilton celebrity sex tapes and dueling tabloids fed by paparazzi who were willing to do anything to get the shot the internet was still the wild west slut shaming fat shaming and revenge porn were all fair game and celebrity was seen as a commodity to be consumed and for the famous women of this era they were never as popular or as vulnerable as when they were in crisis in toxic journalist sarah ditum tells the stories of nine famous women who defined this era and explores how they were devoured by fame how they attempted to control their own narratives and how they succeeded or more often failed whatever you think you already know leave it at the door toxic reveals these women neither as pure victims nor as conniving strategists but as complex individuals trying to navigate celebrity while under attack from a vicious and fast changing media it s time to come to terms with how these iconic women and their experiences living under the public gaze shaped the way we see ourselves our bodies our relationships and our aspirations we are all products of the toxic decade our bodies reveal the values priorities anxieties and material realities of the society in which we are situated and in contemporary consumer societies human bodies both reflect the defining characteristics of our time and carry the markers of social hierarchies based on categories such as gender race and class consuming bodies body commodification and embodiment in late capitalist societies explores the ways our bodies are increasingly commodified from before birth to after death through both long standing forms of commodification captive labor sex work and spectator sports and newer forms commercial surrogacy the thriving trade in human biomaterials female genital rejuvenation surgery global romance tourism and green burial practices among others as this diverse range of topics demonstrates body commodification reaches increasingly into every realm of our lives from our most intimate experiences to encounters with pop culture the beauty industries the medical industrial complex and the state this volume takes a critical perspective on body commodification and embodiment both in the us and across the globe making an important contribution to social scientific understandings of the body both by going beyond the eurocentric approach that typifies much of the extant scholarly literature and by addressing newly emerging practices that are growing out of techno scientific and social changes films and television shows aren t just entertainment they are powerful vehicles that influence social and political trends ultimately shaping the very fabric of our culture because of this potential there are various agencies which work behind the scenes in hollywood to harness these forces for their own aims or those of their clients few people outside the industry are aware that such agencies exist and are hired by advocacy groups to lobby studios writers and producers in order to get their ideas inserted into plots of popular works these hollywood lobbyists have been instrumental in successfully paving the path for same sex marriage to become legal destigmatizing abortion encouraging mass immigration and sounding the alarm about climate change all under the cloak of mere entertainment more recently we ve seen these same powers levied against president trump his supporters and used to demonize white privilege as an invisible enemy that s supposedly around every corner even sports and late night comedy shows are employed for political causes violating the once unwritten cardinal rules of their industries in this groundbreaking work media analyst mark dice details the true power of entertainment and proves how it is being used to wage a psychological war against the world celebrity aspiration and contemporary youth uses the lens of celebrity to explore how young people think about their futures under austerity based on an interdisciplinary study the book offers fresh insights into contemporary youth aspirations and inequalities it helps us to understand young people s transitions into adulthood at a time of socio economic crisis drawing on original data the authors examine what it means for young people to be forming their aspirations within the context of austere meritocracy the book addresses three central questions what kinds of futures do young people desire and imagine for themselves what is required of young people in the process of achieving these futures and how are inequalities embedded and reproduced within these using young people s celebrity talk to explore their aspirations the authors challenge stereotypes of young people as a fame hungry get rich quick generation instead they show how young people engage critically with celebrity and its discourses key chapters focus on how young people talk about youth work authenticity success happiness money and fame in relation to their own lives and those of celebrities each of these chapters contains a case study of an international celebrity including beyoncé will smith bill gates prince harry and kim kardashian the authors conclude with possibilities for social change they show that celebrity offers an important way of working with young people to critically explore what futures are possible and for whom
