this book argues that gabonese writer sylvie ntsame utilizes her novels to question certain patriarchal traditions and practices in african society such as polygyny that in certain contexts tend to silence the voice of the female through engaging with feminist theories among other theoretical frameworks the author demonstrates how in some of ntsame s novels the black female body is an object of voyeurism that reduces the women to eroticized exoticized others the author further argues that ntsame counters the dystopia of racism with a depiction of idealized love through an interracial relationship presented against the backdrop of stereotypes and myths that stifle such relationships ntsame does this by going back to her cultural roots and calling for understanding between peoples of diverse ethnicities and cultures the book makes valuable contributions to the study of gabonese women s writing in particular and african women s writing in general
