working to reconcile the christian dictum to love one s neighbor as oneself with evidence of u s sociopolitical aggression including slavery corporal punishment of children and indian removal elizabeth barnes focuses her attention on aggressors rather than the weak or abused to suggest ways of understanding paradoxical relationships between empathy violence and religion that took hold so strongly in nineteenth century american culture looking at works by herman melville frederick douglass nathaniel hawthorne and louisa may alcott among others barnes shows how violence and sensibility work together to produce a more sensitive citizenry aggression becomes a site of redemptive possibility because salvation is gained when the powerful protagonist identifies with the person he harms barnes argues that this identification and emotional transformation come at a high price however as the reparative ends are bought with another s blood critics of nineteenth century literature have tended to think about sentimentality and violence as opposing strategies in the work of nation building and in the formation of u s national identity yet to understand how violence gets folded into sentimentality s egalitarian goals is to recognize importantly the deep entrenchment of aggression in the empathetic structures of liberal christian culture in the united states an artist in the rigging is a study of herman melville s early novels typee omoo mardi redburn and white jacket the author considers these fictions from the standpoint of thematic relationship rather than of chronological development he shows that while the five hero narrators are separate and distinct entities they have much in common and can be seen as representing different facets of an emergent composite hero from the sensitive and restless young man who leaves home to search hungrily for experience to the wanderer immersed in a deep probing of himself and his world the hero s thirst for psychological independence what comes to be his overriding ambition is never satisfied and destruction becomes inevitable culminating in a paradoxical apotheosis in which the narrator hero achieves this independence but only at the expense of his humanity dillingham persuasively demonstrates the interrelated qualities of these five novels and in so doing he shows that the young melville was a far greater literary artist than he gave himself credit for being this fiction constitutes a powerful achievement in richness of texture range of effect and depth of characterization as an artist in the rigging makes clear what otter has done better than most contemporary readers of melville is to bring melville s obsession with rhetoric and with authorship into alignment with those political issues and to capture fully the context of melville s concerns priscilla wald author of constituting americans this challenging study of a number of american writers belongs in the tradition of the history of ideas approach to literary history it offers an analysis of american literary developments and the relationship between writers and the philosophical and social thought of their times martin examines the works of emerson whitman dickinson crane frost pound hemingway dos passos stevens williams and several others with a sharp eye for the artistic consequences of changing epistemological assumptions and for the connection of ideas and form isbn 0 8223 1125 9 29 95
