omg the second installment of the unforgettable alex s dreams trilogy is a page turner that picks up where the first novel bffs left off this eye catching story delves further into the complex circle of an ethnically color cast who live by the credo a family of friends is friends of family the group s young members provide unwavering and unyielding support for one another through thick and thin in good times and bad from triumph to tragedy this snapshot into the lives of the book's extraordinary characters will leave readers wanting more and its shocking climax creates suspense for the final book in the series. Alexander Rutherford once again wows readers with his gift to enthrall, owing to his meticulous descriptions and attention to detail, suspending disbelief and making readers become part of the story because of the author's passion for the written word. His masterful storytelling contains explicit material intended to be read by mature teens to young adults and is not recommended for younger audiences.

Grover Cleveland College is dying, and the shock is too much for the college's founder and president, Cyrus Cleveland, a direct descendant of President Grover Cleveland. Who begins to die in tandem with his school in a last bid to save his beloved institution, he wills the college to his nephew, Marcus Cleveland, a used car salesman in New Jersey who has never been to college. Much less administered, one Marcus heads north to see what he can do to live up to his uncle's expectations and save the day, facing the impending calamity with cheer, an incorrigibly sunny attitude, and ample naivete. He is totally unprepared for the stew of discontented faculty, internecine rivalries, and unforeseen events that threaten to upend his every effort to rescue the school from the threat of extinction.

First series books 1-43 includes notes on U.S. reports by Walter Malins Rose
