wouldn't it be a disgrace if we lost the brightest students now attending our nation's schools? Dr. Deborah L. Ruf establishes that there are far more highly gifted children than previously imagined yet large numbers of very bright children are never discovered by their schools. Using 78 gifted and highly gifted children as her examples, she illustrates five levels of giftedness. Parents will be able to estimate which of the five levels of giftedness their child fits by comparing their own child's developmental milestones to those of the children described in the book. This book contains practical advice for parents including how to find a school that works for your child. Book Jacket

Lev Vygotsky, the great Russian psychologist, had a profound influence on educational thought. His work on the perception of art, cultural, historical, theory of the mind, and the zone of proximal development all had an impact on modern education. This text provides a succinct critical account of Vygotsky's life and work against the background of the political events and social turmoil of that time and analyses his cross-cultural research and the application of his ideas to contemporary education. René van der Veer offers his own interpretation of Vygotsky as both the man and anti-man of educational philosophy, concluding that the strength of Vygotsky's legacy lies in its unfinished, open nature.

The content of this book is about human trafficking, immigration, survival, and romance. This book could be easily entitled The Good Foreigners, but no, it would be too simple, too trivial. He says instead he chooses to name it Miserere Nobis, the Latin translation for 'have mercy on us'. The title says it all. With this book, the author pays tribute to all who have the privilege to learn what it takes to be a good foreigner. It is so nice to know that we are all foreigners on earth. Smile and enjoy the book.

A true story, Losing Control chronicles an African American mother's struggle with her daughter's mental illness, which, after more than a decade of help-seeking, heartache, and confusion, is finally determined to be bipolar disorder. Her difficulties in managing symptoms of her child's illness, the lack of social and emotional support, and the grief this mother faces as the diagnosis is finally determined are vividly and courageously discussed. A medical perspective on bipolar disorder, including definitions, symptoms, and treatment in a cultural context, is provided. Resources to help families deal with the stigma attached to mental illness and resources that can be helpful in managing its course are also provided.
