childbearing seems eternal primordial and universal yet human reproduction in the 21st century is in a state of flux this accessible book highlights dramatic changes that have occurred over the last decades focusing on both individual and cross cultural diversity across the now elongated childbearing cycle and the uniqueness of desire and emotional experience it does so by locating the transition to parenthood in its psycho sexual and socio economic context emphasising interweaving internal external realities and our inherent interconnectedness with others included are conscious and unconscious factors determining beliefs expectations and parenting practices and ways in which these are affected by rapid urbanisation shrinking families societal instability hiv governmental maternity and child care policies and attitudes of professionals drawing widely on empirical and clinical research from disparate disciplines psychoanalytic neuro scientific neonatal sociological obstetric anthropological and midwifery this resource book synthesises these to illustrate a spectrum of processes affecting each person s mental health

this book addresses neoplasms of the human trophoblast the scant literature available on the epidemiology of trophoblast neoplasms suggests that they are as much as ten times more common in africa asia india and much of the developing world than in western countries the stimulus for the book evolved out of a common interest to combine western technology with the clinical experience in the developing world in a common pursuit of the study and eradication of trophoblast neoplasia there is substantial evidence to contend that gene derepression as seen in trophoblastic disease may be a universal prerequisite to neoplastic transformation in general the recent discovery that the tumor markers human chorionic gonadotropin hcg or its subunits are identifiable in over 90 percent of all extracted neoplasms suggests a critical role for this common denominator of gene derepression in neoplasia this gene derepression concept in reproductive biology and neoplasia spans many of the basic parameters of human cell replication as related to endocrinology immunology biochemistry electrophysiology genetics and pharmacology the international society for the study of trophoblastic disease focuses on the global aspects of trophoblast neoplasms these global aspects include epidemiology and etiology of the disease regional variations in treatment of trophoblastic neoplasms and potential ways to adapt and apply western technology to effective use in developing countries it was this perspective that formed the basis for the first world congress on trophoblast neoplasms which convened in nairobi in october 1982
