recently the importance for herodotus work of contemporary medical and sophistic thought and techniques of argument has been widely recognised as long had been his dependence on and difference from earlier geographical and ethnographic writing this volume focuses on the place of these interests in his investigatory techniques and sets them alongside his many narrative skills from superficially traditonal battle narrative and reworking of greek or non greek traditions that border on myth to the structuring of narrative by highlighting the life of objects and addresses such fundamental issues as how he chooses between competing explanations and how far he valued truth the book tackles many of the basic issues that confront any attempt to understand herodotus work this book investigates several controversial issues regarding the role of the soviet union and the performance of the soviet government and red army to which the author provides some provocative answers the primary question explored by the author however regards the effectiveness of both the red army and of the soviet military economy dr sokolov argues that the chief defect of the soviet military economy was the disproportionate emphasis on the production of tanks and aircraft at the expense of transportation means and the means of command and control this leads the author to look at the role of lend lease during the war through the delivery of radio sets trucks jeeps locomotives fuel explosives and so on the author concludes that lend lease was critical to the red army and that the soviet union would not have been able to wage a long war against germany without the lend lease supplies a conclusion that defies decades of soviet claims to the contrary finally the author looks at the still very controversial and hot topic of red army losses in the war which was taboo for decades arguing that this is an effective measure of the red army s military performance he and other scholars have estimated that the red army s losses were on the scale of 27 million three times larger than the official estimates and approximately 10 times greater than the german losses on the eastern front he argues that such horrendous casualties and such an unfavorable ratio for the red army were the result of the relatively low value placed on human life in both the russian empire and the soviet union and the much more destructive nature of the soviet totalitarian regime as compared with the third reich which cowed the soviet generals and officers into total subservience due to the elimination of all political opposition and the total control over people s lives soldiers and civilians could not protest against the crude tactics that resulted in such a very high rate of losses dr boris sokolov is a prolific author and a member of the russian branch of pen international which celebrates literature and promotes freedom of expression in 2008 dr sokolov was forced to resign as professor of social anthropology from his post at the russian state social university in moscow at the demand of president medvedev s administration after publishing an article about the 2008 russian georgian war the author of 69 books as of 2012 his work has focused on the history of the second world war and has also written biographies of such prominent
