one dilemma facing new or newly independent states such as those of the former soviet union is how to design effective legislatures when political parties are weak and fragmented or even nonexistent in this book joel m ostrow develops a comparative institutional framework to explain marked differences in behavior across three post soviet legislatures the russian supreme soviet the russian state дума and the estonian legislature he argues that these differences in ability to manage political conflict can be explained in large measure by the design of the legislatures most significant is the choice of whether and how to include parties or partisan factors legislatures are an omnipresent component of modern democracy ostrow s comparative institutional design confirms the presumption of many political scientists that parties are essential for legislative consensus building however it also reveals that parties may have paradoxical effects on a legislature s performance in following the budget process in russia and estonia ostrow explores the consequences that different institutional designs have had on post soviet legislatures he has found that how parties are included may determine how capable a legislature is at managing political conflict both internally and with the executive branch of the government the author was present at many of the committee hearings and legislative sessions he describes and his firsthand observations and interviews with committee members enhance his analysis this book uses the early twentieth century surveillance reports of urban vice reformers in new york chicago lancaster pennsylvania as well as the us vice report for the league of nations special body on trafficking in women and children from 1927 and french police memoirs treatises and histories of vice enforcement in late nineteenth century and early twentieth century paris to highlight the way in which american reliance on undercover tactics drove american vice enforcement policy leading to a clash with french vice enforcement policy before the league of nations both the failure of that early effort to exert international influence on vice enforcement and the american embrace of undercover tactics would set the stage for the later american efforts to promote a global war on drugs before the league of nations in particular the american delegation's notable lack of success in mobilizing european crackdowns on prostitution created a blueprint for how not to project american influence overseas once american advocates of narcotics interdiction sought to promote a global war on drugs yet private reformers reliance on undercover tactics to investigate prostitution modeled the investigative tactics on which american law enforcement would come to depend and which it would later seek to export as a primary weapon in the war on drugs the study of comparative public policy reveals the intensely political nature of policy choices while policy analysts often look to policy successes and failures outside their borders to draw valuable lessons and insights cultural economic political and institutional conditions vary from country to country and strongly affect how policy analysis is ultimately used by combining a conceptual discussion of policy making with an examination of seven specific policy areas jessica adolino and charles blake show how politics in the realm of the environment education taxation economics immigration health care and social welfare shapes policy choices the second edition of comparing public policies has been revised and updated to reflect the most recent political and policy developments this new edition expands coverage of the internationalization of domestic policy making by including a european union case study in each issue area along with further discussion of the role of international interest groups in the policy process the seven policy chapters have been revised and updated to examine current issues in the united states japan germany france the united kingdom italy and the european union such as the heightened calls for immigration policy reform the return to higher budget deficits in several countries the efforts to lower tax rates in countries with falling expenditures and in countries with rising spending levels the often unsuccessful attempts to control increasing health care costs in countries with aging populations the spirited debate over the future role of the welfare state in an increasingly globalized economy the at times divergent education reform debates regarding the role of assessment and calls for decentralization the uneven environmental performance in the reduction of carbon dioxide emissions chapters include analyses of crossnational trends past and present and a final chapter reexamines the internationalization of public policy in industrialized countries useful pedagogical features have been incorporated throughout the text including in depth boxes that offer detailed discussion of the political process or analytical techniques and country at a glance boxes that provide quick reference to political institutions a wealth of recent data is displayed in numerous tables and a glossary gives students a practical guide to terminology recent years have witnessed substantial work in the legislative studies field but what do we know about legislatures today and are there clear criteria for comparing and classifying them this is a new review of the state of our knowledge of parliament and tackles key questions do legislatures matter in legislative terms and if so how much what is the extent of the legislature s control of the legislative process how can we classify legislatures on the basis of their relative legislative performance five measures of the policy power of parliaments are applied in the country region chapters this book was previously published as a special issue of the leading journal of legislative studies the increasingly global study of policy processes faces challenges with scholars applying theories in radically different national and cultural contexts questions frequently arise about how to conduct policy process research comparatively and among this global community of scholars methods of the policy process is the first book to remedy this situation not by establishing an orthodoxy or imposing upon the policy process community a rigid way of conducting research but instead by allowing the leading researchers in the different theoretical traditions a space to share the means by which they put their research into action this edited volume serves as a companion volume and supplemental guide to the well established theories of the policy process 4th edition methods of the policy process acknowledges that growth and advancement in the study of the policy process is dependent not merely on conceptual and theoretical development but also on developing and systematizing better methodological approaches to measurement and analysis to maximize student engagement with the material each chapter follows a similar framework introduction of a given theory of the policy process application of that theory including best practices for research design conceptualization major data sources data collection and methodological approaches critical assessment future directions and often online resources including datasets survey instruments and interview and coding protocols while the structure and focus of each chapter varies slightly according to the theoretical tradition being discussed each chapter s central aim is to prepare readers to confidently undertake common methodological strategies themselves methods of the policy process is especially beneficial to people new to the field including students enrolled in policy process courses as well as those without access to formal training for scholars experienced in applying theories this edited volume is a helpful reference to clarify best practices in research methods discussions of policy networks are becoming increasingly common in the analysis of public policy in the western world this book addresses the key theoretical issues surrounding policy networks even in the face of internal disputes between cattlemen and hay cutters the people of fort hall found innovative ways such as participation in new religious experiences cultural redefinition and regular community gatherings to manage the contradictions that stemmed from market integration heaton tells how the shoshone bannocks made a meaningful choice between productive commerce and a more typical reliance on subsistence and wage labor their leaders found new ways to unite disparate bands and kin groups to resist attempts to open reservation land to exploitation by non indians and through careful land cessions they were able to obtain the capital needed to develop reservation resources themselves abstract the thesis project is an investigation of some well known machine learning systems and evaluates their utility when applied to a classification task from the field of human genetics this common disease research task an inquiry into genetic and biochemical factors and their association with a family history of coronary artery disease cad is more complex than many pursued in machine learning research due to interactions and the inherent noise in the dataset the task also differs from most pursued in machine learning research because there is a desire to explain the dataset with a small number of rules even at the expense of accuracy so that they will be more accessible to medical researchers who are unaccustomed to dealing with disjunctive explanations of data furthermore there is assymetry in the task in that good explanations of the positive examples is of more importance than good explanations of the negative examples the primary machine learning approach investigated in this research is genetic algorithms ga s decision trees autoclass and cobweb are also included the ga performed the best in terms of descriptive ability with the common disease research task although decision trees also demonstrated certain strengths autoclass and cobweb were recognized from the onset as being inappropriate for the needs of common disease researchers because both systems are unsupervised learners that create probabilistic structures but were included for their interest in the machine learning community these systems did not perform as well as ga s and decision trees in terms of their ability to describe the data in terms of predictive accuracy all systems performed poorly and the differences between any two of the three best systems is not significant when positive and negative examples are considered separately the ga does significantly better than the other systems in predicting positive examples and significantly worse in predicting negative examples the thesis illustrates that the investigation of real problems from researchers in other fields can lead machine learning researchers to challenge their systems in ways they may not otherwise have considered and may lead these researchers to a symbiotic relationship that benefits multiple research communities
