experiencing ethics not only refers to being confronted with a situation in which one must choose a course of action it also makes reference to giving a narrative account of the circumstances and chain of events leading to such crossroads between both there is a chasm a space of indeterminacy into which r musil and l sterne delve with aesthetic means their poetics move in opposite directions but by following them to their last critical consequences this study reveals a kindred ethical stance this interpretation sheds light on the ethics revolving around character construction by examining the constraints thwarting any attempt to complete a biographical account or convey a protagonist that led his or her life neither musil nor sterne posit a narrative agenda that could reach a last chapter or lead to a groundwork determining their ethics a closer look into their tight knit prose reveals that both rely on the narrating on a skill that must be incessantly cultivated through a digressive or essayistic style equipped with a vast theoretical repertoire this approach makes a strong case for a new constellation in comparative literature this book is devoted to the theory of chaotic oscillations in mechanical systems detailed descriptions of the basic types of nonlinearity impacts and dry friction are presented the properties of such behavior are discussed and the numerical and experimental results obtained by the authors are presented the dynamic properties of systems described here can be useful in the proper design and use of mechanics where such behavior still creates problems this book will be very useful for anyone with a fundamental knowledge of nonlinear mechanics who is beginning research in the field
